

WE NOMINATE

Maurice H. Hawk, 76-year old native of West Windsor Township, who has made a habit of establishing "longevity records" that may never be equalled as long as local government exists in its present form in the sovereign state of New Jersey. Telephone calls this week to State agencies confirmed that Hawk, a third-generation representative of one of West Windsor's founding families, has completed 44 years of continuous service as secretary of his municipality's board of education and in this period has missed exactly one of the hundreds of stated and special meetings called by a township currently flooded with the problems of growth.

It was in the spring of 1914 that Hawk, a successful farmer from 1903 until 1933 and an able insurance representative for the past quarter-century, was informed by a neighbor that he had been elected to the school board. The following fall, as the United States first felt the impact of World War I, he accepted the secretaryship of the board with the feeling that "maybe I can last a year." Nearly a half-century later the annual budget had mushroomed from $2,500 to approximately $500,000 and he was honored as Secretary Emeritus of the Board of Education.

Thrice in the past decade Hawk has received the equivalent of honorary degrees from an appreciative community. In 1950, upon concluding his 12th successive three-year term as an elective member of the school board, he was cited by his fellow board members. Two years ago he was acclaimed by West Windsor's graduating class as "Mr. Education" and this month, with his resignation as board secretary, he was again singled out by a school population of some 900 students, including the 150 students West Windsor annually "farms in" in Princeton High School.

Hawk, a product of an all-grade, one-room school in West Windsor in the days when the school district pointed with pride to its lone two-room structure in Penns Neck, was graduated from Rider College as an accountant in 1903. He worked briefly for the wholesale firm of J. H. Blackwell & Sons, turned cheerfully to farming and several years later was treasurer of the "ertswhile West Windsor Detective and Pursuing Society, a pre-Civil War organization concerned with the tracking and apprehension of horse thieves.

Active in a variety of service groups, ranging from Hightstown Grange No. 96 to the West Windsor Lions Club, Hawk will shortly enter upon his 30th year as treasurer of West Windsor Township, an appointive post subject to annual confirmation by the governing body. His affiliation with the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church dates back almost 60 years to 1899. He gave 25 years (1922-1947) as secretary of the church's board of trustees and, come next April, will round out an even 40 years as a trustee of one of the Princeton Area's most beautiful places of worship.

For contributing what his colleagues term the "leadership, guidance and skill" which have strengthened West Windsor's financial position from the point of view of education; for his understanding of the problems suddenly confronting an engulfed community; for distinguished unselfish service, he is Town Topics' nominee for

HISTORY REPEATS

But Not Always. This is that time of year when history begins repeating itself in large doses and to the reporter of news in Princeton, repeating history begins to read like a broken record sound. Youngsters graduate, families start taking vacations, the firemen plan their annual parade for the same Friday night it was held last year, American Legionnaires announce they are set to shoot off July 4 fireworks in Palmer Stadium and well—it seems to everyone they've heard that song before. The faithful reporter, of course, keeps both eyes open for the unusual story, the big news "break" that will make for more exciting reading, the big story that seldom comes along in Princeton in summertime. Or, if he's having a little trouble keeping both eyes open, he re-reads last summer's papers—and often is surprised to discover that history doesn't always repeat, not even in Princeton.

To be sure, Princeton University's alumni return in droves every June and the air-conditioned Garden Theatre shuts its doors before the end of each June, but consider this lead paragraph from TOWN TOPICS of a year back:

"Even Princetonians with longer memories than the Weather Bureau found it difficult this week to recall a more intensely hot spell over a period of so many days during another month of June. As of Wednesday, the old town prepared for the eighth straight day; the temperature was running 15 degrees above normal—unusual for late spring—and rain fell was way down for the month."

CALL WA 4-1848

(June, 1958, can be called anything but a repeat of June, 1957. Temperatures have been running some 15 degrees BELOW normal—and, oh, that rainfall!)

No doubt about it—the University Players ring up the curtain on a new season every June, about this time and the Junior League's commence to hang out any balls the Midget League's have left for them to hang out. Yet, the following lead paragraph is straight from TOWN TOPICS of a year ago.

"Contrary to the best 'Nassau Street reports' and a number of one-sided articles in various New Jersey newspapers, the proposed Stony Brook reservoir just west of Princeton appears this week to be anything but a 'dead duck.' Proponents of the multi-million dollar plan, apparently a good sized as well as powerful group, still are talking about the reservoir in a confident tone. Opponents of the proposal, many in number hereabouts, are being urged by their leaders to redouble their efforts."

(June, 1958, and all is well along Stony Brook. Voices of the reservoir proponents are now dim, redoubled efforts of reservoir opponents have proved successful and the small conservation dams project of the anti-reservoir Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association is scheduled for fruition.)

In short, life can be beautiful. Repetition is bound to score its victories throughout the summer months, but there are going to be days—perhaps weeks—when the interesting deviation, if not the colossal news story, occurs to offer welcome relief. The reporter of news in Princeton has this much to look forward to and therefore ample reason to keep those eyes open—one of them, anyway.

PARKING TOPS AGENDA

Borough Aims for More Space. Reaching full well the number of town's parking lots are far from cured, in spite of first-class plans in recent months, Borough Council put on its white robes again this past week and started figuring how to doctor the case some more. An increasingly serious patient is expected when Princeton becomes "re-activated" in the fall, so the city medicine men are anxious to discover the proper tonic well in advance.

Last Thursday evening, Council's parking specialists (Messrs. Colman, Coyle and Fard) met with a majority of Nassau Street businessmen from the Vandewater-to-Almore area and re-opened the whole question of "interior" parking facilities in that all-too-crowded downtown section. No definite steps were taken, as the meeting represented only a "work session," but councilmen and businessmen alike left the gathering with the distinct impression that positive action will follow soon.

Earlier the same day, directors of the Princeton Business Association met again with officials of Princeton Municipal Improvement Inc. to blueprint future parking spaces for the area around Palmer Square. All hands agreed that quick moves should be made as soon as the Borough's Urban Renewal program has received the final blessing of Federal authorities.

Parking talk remained a principal Princeton subject this week as Mayor Male flew back from Brussels and readied himself for summer hours devoted to the all-important matter. Merchants along Nassau between Olden Street and Murray Place kept their request for parking consideration very much alive by petitioning for some municipal use of the Skirm property at 253 Nassau and the Burgess site behind Vaughn & Rocknak's service station (235 Nassau). And Council—

PERSONALITIES

Louis R. Gerber, 239 Edgemoor Road, Princeton Township magistrate and outspoken critic of motorists who violate the rules of the road, this week suggested that the Borough Board of Education steal a leaf from Princeton University's book of regulations and prohibit Princeton High School students from driving cars to and from school or PHS-sponsored functions. Admitting that the suggestion will not win him many young friends, the magistrate said it might eliminate such tragedies as the recent four-death auto accident and other traffic mishaps just as the same move helped the University solve a serious highway problem.

David Sawyer, enterprising Princeton senior-to-be who on Saturday will launch his professional career as a producer when the University Players open their 30th anniversary season with "A View From The Bridge" at Murray Theatre (for details, page 5). Interested in the stage and his glamour since a tender age, Mr. Sawyer got his first serious acting experience at college in the Theatre Intime productions of "Clash By Night" and "Measure for Measure," tried his hand at directing "The Rainmaker" and wound up as interim president for 1958-59. ROUND-UP NAMES IN THE NEWS: Rough Mayor Male returned Monday from a whirlwind but worthwhile trip to the World's Fair in Brussels and immediately began tackling less worldly, yet no less knotty, Princeton problems after battling out some overseas impressions on route home (see Report from the Mayor, page 21). . . . the Mayor was greeted by all of the Borough High brass except Police Chief Smith, who is attending the annual convention of New Jersey chiefs in Sea Girl. . . . Governor and Mrs. Meyner (the latter wearing a new bonnet, compliments of New York City Mayor Wagner) have asked for and are in the process of receiving decorative entrance posts for Murven's driveway and safety-inspired fencing for Storven's newsworthy swimming pool. . . . the Meyners, ever the "first family," have taken the lead in abiding by the Borough's new ordinance requiring fences around pools.

John Stout Jr. and Jack Adams, co-chairman of the Kings-ton-based "Baby Gene" Darrell fund drive, announced that $1800 has been raised to help the young cancer victim and already $1000 worth of family medical bills have been paid. . . . in particular, the co-chairman thanked the Trenton Clown Club for its recent successful charity show that benefited the continuing campaign for donations. . . . included on the high honor roll at Princeton High School for the year's final marking period were Carol Jones (the only senior), Helen Harrison, Sally Ann Mather, Dorothy Goetz, Susan Hedder, Margaret Mack and Donna Marx.

NOTES IN THE NEWS: As is their annual habit around this time of year, the Princeton Lions will try to make donkeys out of the police of both Princeton municipalities in a forthcoming benefit "Donkey Polo" match. . . . the strictly-for-fun-and-funds contest of skill and stamina will be waged the evening of July 8 at Princeton High and members of the Lions organization have plenty of tickets for sale. . . . the White Horse Tavern, 11 Birch Avenue, has been granted conditional renewal of its liquor license by the Township Committee. . . some 15 Birch residents appeared at a public hearing last week to object to what they called "a public nuisance," promising to take their complaint to the ABC if the Committee fails to support their contentions. . . . Starting next Tuesday, the price of regular home-delivered milk (now 25 cents in Princeton) will go up one and a half cents per quart to cover mounting costs in the milk industry. . . . end, speaking of milk, that's a new transformer being installed under the Palmer Square street outside Clayton's, not a milk storage tank for Renwick's Restaurant, which happens to be renovating completely at the same time. . . . Classified Ad of the Week: the plea of an anonymous female-happy male who now wants the girls to stop calling him after his ad in Town Topics last week for distasteful companionship drew 23 "interesting" phone conversations.

BIRDS-EYE VIEW OF PROPOSED URBAN RENEWAL AREA: The parallel lines on this graphic aerial photo indicate Princeton Borough's proposed Urban Renewal area, now being considered by Federal experts, who must decide if Federal funds are to be earmarked for the long-discussed project. Excluding the Playhouse (lower left), the outside lines lie on Hulfish, Witherspoon, Green and John Streets. The parallel lines in the middle of the area mark the planned extension of Avalon Place (upper left, solid line) that would join directly with Wiggins Street (right). If the project goes through, all houses on both sides of Jackson Street (center, marked) will be removed, small businesses on Witherspoon's west side will be eliminated for one large business and a garage south of the First Baptist Church (left) will be razed. Municipal parking lot being completed on the east side of Witherspoon (far right), and Avalon are regarded as "supporting facilities" in the Borough's bid for Federal acceptance of Urban Renewal program. ARTS FESTIVAL PLANNED Unique Exhibit for Miss Fine's. A regional "Festival of the Arts" which will, it is hoped, become an annual affair, has been planned for next fall by the Parents' Association of Miss Fine's School. It will be held in the school gym on October 23 for the benefit of the Miss Fine's Scholarship Fund. The Festival will be an exhibition and sale of paintings, sculpture and fine decorative arts from the studios of artists in New England, New York, Philadelphia, the Delaware Valley area and Princeton. Works will be sold on a commission basis and the commission will go to the Fund.

Artists who live at some distance from Princeton will submit works by invitation. The work of local artists will be chosen by an out-of-town jury. All art will be of professional calibre, but there may be a grouping arrangement that will separate paintings chosen by the jury from those not so chosen.

According to present plans, the gym at Miss Fine's will be decorated to provide the best possible background for the exhibits. In the center of the gym will be an exhibition space shaped like a 16-pointed star, with paintings hung along each point. The area will be lighted from above.

Booths will be arranged around the sides of the gym and on the stage there will be a Parisian Bookshop where prints will be for sale. Besides paintings and sculpture, the exhibit will have photographs, needlepoint and embroidery pieces, and line objects d'art for the home.

The idea has grown from a suggestion made to the Parents' Council of the Parents Association by Mrs. Gilbert Lea. Mrs. Augustus K. Mills has been named chairman of the Festival.

DRIVER DOING WELL

"Car Got Away From Me." Robert De Sandro, 18-year old Lawrenceville youth who drove the now-shattered sedan that carried four teenage Princeton High students to untimely deaths on June 14, is "coming along very well," authorities at Princeton Hospital reported this week. Suffering from only a fracture of the upper right arm, minor cuts about the face and neck and the after-effects of extreme shock, he may be released over the week end.

Commenting on the tragic Route 27 accident, "worst ever" in the Princeton area, and still the major topic of conversation here this past week, State Police Sgt. John A. Smith, station commander of the Princeton Barracks, cited young De Sandro's "driver inexperience" as the primary cause of the fatal crash into a power line pole. Most motorists could handle the easy curve a mile north of Kingston, even though exceeding the 53 mile per hour speed limit there, he observed, but the Lawrenceville teen-ager—with only three months of licensed auto operation behind him—could not.

De Sandro has told State Police investigators that he was travelling between 65 and 70 when the 11:35 p.m. accident took place, though he admitted hitting 80 earlier in the evening. "The car got away from me," he revealed in Sgt. Smith's pressroom last week end. The station commander, who previously estimated the car's speed at no less than 80 at the time of the smash-up, revised his thinking a bit and said the horrible wreckage results might have been obtained at 70, since De Sandro lost control completely and no braking was attempted.

Adding a few new items of investigative interest, Sgt. Smith reported that Trooper Paul Hydock, who headed the accident inquiry, has determined that the auto's actual point of impact with the brick pole was to right front door. Four basic natural laws of physics—those involving friction, centrifugal force, pull of gravity and force of impact—were disturbed as De Sandro failed to control his speed on the curve. —Continued on Page 4

"Bridge" Opens Saturday, The University Players will begin their season at air-conditioned Murray Theatre this Saturday with Arthur Miller's "A View From The Bridge," directed by James Ambrosio, former associate professor of drama at Penn State. Originally a one-act play, the drama was re-written by Miller for a successful 1957 London production and also had a healthy New York run with Van Helia as the lead. The action takes place in the lower East side apartment of Eddie Carbone, a longshoreman, whose problems are explored in this modern tragedy.

David Sawyer, president of Princeton's Theatre Inc., will produce this season's productions following Karl Light of "Inherit the Wind," Charles Schultz, CBS television producer, and Morton Goode. The Players are marking the 30th anniversary of the first University Players' season at Falmouth, Mass.

BUCKS PLAYHOUSE

Coming of Stone Age, Changing stage in a hurry, Bucks County Playhouse—currently showing the hilarious story of two boy killers in "Compulsion"—will present an hilarious comedy, "Season in the Sun," next Monday through July 12. The evening offering is a play by Wolcott Gibbs, drama critic of the New Yorker magazine, and is based upon the diaries of the intelligence on Fire Island famed summer resort off Long Island's southern coastline.

For the first time, the entire Ezra "Henry Aldrich" Stone family will be assembled in one play. Stone will direct "Season" with his wife, Sara Seegar, set to costar and their two children, Freema, 12, and Josef, 14, among the many featured players. Russell Harbale and Paul Lynde also will share top billing in the fifth Bucks production of the 1968 season.

Producer Michael Ellis announced this week that the T.C. Jones revue, which recently completed a two-week run (June 2-14) at the New Hope theatre, broke house records that had stood for 20 years by earning a total of $16,260, or $200 better each week than the weekly house capacity. The impresario expressed surprise that no other summer theatre has or will book the female impersonator.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Peter Pan (June 26-28), aimed at the just-out-of-school-but-not-off-to-camp-yet trade, offers the youngsters a real treat, not to mention the mothers who should be delighted to see them off to the Playhouse for an afternoon or evening. It's the Walt Disney full-length cartoon version of an appealing, popular fairy tale, so what else need be said? Nothing, except that the all-Disney program also includes two interesting shorts, "Wales" and "The Truth About Mother Goose."

No Time for Sergeants (June 26-July 5), based on the comic novel, TV one-shooter and Broadway hit of the same name, makes the off-difficult transition from stage to screen with hilarity and success, thanks in large measure to producer-director Mervyn LeRoy, the talented gent who directed a similar move with "Mister Roberts." This time, LeRoy's service farce centers on a Georgia hillbilly, almost totally devoid of book-learning but possessed of the all-conquering wit of innocence, who promotes a shambles of the U.S. Air Force, its manners, morals and chain of command. Andy Griffith plays this enlightened rube to perfection, proudly accepting the exalted position of Permanent Latrine Orderly, and he receives notable assists from Nick Adams, Don Knotts (of the Steve Allen television show) and Myron McCormick (Princeton University '31). Bellylaughs are the order of the day from start to finish.

IT'S NEW To Us

STILL IN PRINT

Popular Paisley. They are still very new, but they are almost gone, so if there is anyone you know who wears a man's sports jacket, we suggest that you send him around to The English Shop by the next post. The jackets we refer to are made of fine Swiss cotton in a paisley print of some elegance. Well, why not? Men wear paisley vests. Don't they? This jacket is done in dark greens and dark blues, the paisley pattern cast in vertical stripes. There is another model in brown and rust, but you'll like that green one.

Probably this jacket should not be worn with Hathaway's Joseph Shirt, the one made of scraps from the Hathaway floor. We saw one with a pink gingham collar, plaid pocket and various stripes, that were different on each side. A more sober citizen will prefer the sports shirts in Tenzon stripes, or gingham by Imperial. Pearl neck chambrays, batiks, solids and paisleys fill out the English Shop's sports shirt wardrobe.

For sailors, Hathaway makes a V-neck in white that's as white as foam. There's a deep V-neck that takes a sailor's bib. Comes in navy or red, too, but you'll like the white one.

Across the aisle where it's always Ladies' Day at the English Shop, we found a veritable garden of prints. They are dark transitional cottons and whoever named them must have had a lot of old seed catalogues lying around. Take "Larkspur" which is, you will not be surprised to learn, a blue print. "Geranium" is sort of reddish. Then there's "Marigold," "Bachelor Button" and "Poppy."

These annuals, guaranteed to bloom for two seasons, are mixtures of plain and fancy. The first group has shirt and skirt, matching. The second has a plain skirt and a floral print blouse. The skirt is made of a rayon-acetate fabric that looks like corduroy.

Then we go on down the garden path to "Autumn Astors," "Sunburst," "Blue Horizon," "Russet," which speak for themselves. All are tailored, two-piece ensembles for cool summer days and early autumn ones.

We almost forgot another group, named for famous artists. Buy "Picasso Amber" or "Chazal Green," "Rembrandt Blue" or "Van Gogh Red." We hunted around for an Al Capp Black and White, but the list seems to stop with Van Gogh.

The Sneaker Grows Up

A long time ago there was something called a tennis shoe. It was made out of canvas and a rubber, and you wore it on a tennis court or maybe a boat deck and you probably left it in a locker room when you took it off.

But all this happened a long time ago and the sneaker is now so "haut monde" that you wouldn't dream of wearing it on a tennis court.

Take the new ones at Hull's, for example. They are made of canvas. They have corrugated crepe soles. But what happens then? They have heels, no less, trim, little Louis heels. They are shaped like a pump, with a pointed toe and a bow on the vamp. They come in bright blue lined with red, and a charming little floral print and a suave sand color.

You could wear them for cocktails when other ladies are wearing their Italian silk print pumps and nobody will know the difference except you, who have paid only $5.95 instead of just silk prices.

Just remember: these shoes may be canvas and crepe but they are not juniors' gym sneakers. Don't lose them in the washing machine.

Buy It For a Thong. Hull's has a $2.98 white thong sandal with broad instep strap to keep thing in line. It's a slipper, really, with comfortable padded sole.

Golo lays out a flat in a sort of greenish beige ("Carragras Green") that comes to the point and accents it with pointed mosaic stitching that follows the outline of the toe. It laces with three pairs of holes.

Whos' For a Hobby? You'll recall the model knights in armor that Aaron designed himself and now has on display and for sale in his Radio Center at 1244 Witherspoon. To this group he has now added a Viking, with sword and shield.

Like the other models, he is historically accurate and made entirely out of plastic. The plastic may not be impervious to an enemy arrow, but it's mighty easy to assemble.

If you want to build your own skeleton in armor, you can buy "Modern Man," the first in a series that will apparently run evolution backwards. Maybe you'll end up with a jaw fragment. The skeleton is about a foot tall.

Rocket Chute powers a missile that you put together yourself. Costs $6.95 and is probably inter-Continued on Page 8

BAND CONCERTS TO BEGIN

Bruce McKinney Will Direct
The public is again invited to enjoy the summer concerts given by the Princeton Community Band in front of Nassau Hall. The first performance will take place this Friday at 7:30 under the direction of Bruce McKinney, with concerts also scheduled for July 17, August 1 and August 21. A few other dates may be set during the course of the summer. The varied program for this Friday includes: March and Corde from "La Reine de Saba" by Charles Gounod; Arioso from "Cantata 156" by Bach; "Second Suite in E" by Gustav Holst; "Holiday in Paris" by Jacques Offenbach and a march titled "Our Director" by E. E. Bagley. Johnny Mercer's "I'll Abner Overture" will be the closing number. In case of rain, the concert will be canceled.

According to Mr. McKinney, future selections will be taken from modern American composers such as William Schuman and Morton Gould. Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite," Humperdink's "Prayer and Dream Fantasia" from Hansel and Gretel" and Prokofiev's march from "The Love of Three Oranges" are also planned.

Herbert Juris is treasurer for the band, with Alan Goodheart in charge of publicity. Robert Flory and David White are responsible for recording.

For this season's performances the players are: William Dix and Barry Roskoff, alto saxophone; Malcolm Fry and Robert Eversen, baritone saxophone; Alan Juris and Charlotte Slider, tenor saxophone; Alexander Nolt, bells; Norman Baker, Jonathan Esty, Audrey Cantz, Marvin Gelphai, Robert Hoyer, Richard Harford, Love Jungster, Leanne Leech, Donald Martino, Lawrence Plumbers, and Daniel Quick, clarinet; Dale Anderson, Elizabeth Maple, Susan Miller, Olivia Planting and Margaret White, flute; Arthur Finkle and Alan Luther, French horn; Charles Barrows, Alexander Leitch, Stephen Lockwood and David Patterson, percussion.

continental. There is a model of the Alpha-Ballistic missile, too.

Mosaic art tile in porcelain and glass is now available at the Radio Center for people who like to make their own mosaic tables. Aaron has patterns for tables that are oval, round, oblong, square or free-form.

You may also use the tiles to cover a wastebasket or a tray, or if you're really ambitious you might line a bathtub with them. All the equipment is here, including grouts, cements and full instructions.

Walt Disney, who never seems to miss a chance to turn a honest penny, has begun to sell rocks and minerals. "From the True-Life Adventure Series," the labels say. "This pay dirt starts at a dime and goes on up, cost depending on value. The most expensive is a piece of real jade for 50 cents, Gee.

Barbecue Time, Daddy. The great thing about summer is that it brings men outdoors to do the cooking. (Whoever heard of a woman broiling steak over charcoal?) Summer also brings these barbecue accessories that keep the cook from burning the steak: you know—aprons, towels, that kind of thing.

Philip Farkouh in the Princeton Shopping Center has one of the best-looking ensembles we've seen along these lines. Made of dark, natural linen, it consists of an apron, towel and table cloth, each piped with bright red.

In the center of each is a steer's head, printed like a heraldic emblem with crossed scythes behind the head. The border is a random row of tomato wedges, pepper shakers, mushroom caps and cooking utensils.

For someone who lives quite a different life, Mr. Farkouh has linen runners and doilies done with elaborate cut-out and embroidery work that many women cherish and collect for themselves over the years. Mats begin small and go upward in size to the big dresser runners. They come in every (the most popular color) or white.

French dinner napkins with a two-inch border of lace are $75 a dozen. And luncheon napkins of pure linen are 55 cents apiece. Each collection is perfect, within its own price scale. (Those linen luncheon napkins come in every color you could imagine, to mix or match.)

Hanging on Mr. Farkouh's wall, at the other end of the store from the steer's head, is a shimmering silk rug from Persia. It's a real prayer rug, the kind you might carry on your camel whenever you go on a journey. Mr. Farkouh offers it for $500.

He has several antique Persians now, some of them as old as 125 years. They are about four by seven feet and they start at $65 and go up to $395.

LAWRENCE DRIVE-IN
The Space Children and The Colossus of New York (June 26-28) offer a science fiction combination from Paramount that is bound to please the youngsters—and a lot of adults, too. The former is highly imaginative film about an intriguing force, shapeless in contour, yet resembling a brain with puffing eyeballs that glow. Its stars are Michel Ray and Adam Williams of the younger generation and the likes of Jackie Coogan from another era. "Colossus" is comparable fare, with Ross Martin and Mala Pava.

Kathy O and Wild Heritage (June 23-July 1) from a twin bill that is likely to attract family groups, despite its all-out move away from the present trend of science fiction thrillers. The first-named, with Dan Durkin, Jan Sterling and Patty McCormack, is a surprise comedy, wrapped up happily in CinemaScope and color. Taken from a Saturday Evening Post story, it deals amusingly with the difficulties encountered by a publicity man and a national magazine writer as they are obliged to cope with a temperamental child star. "Heritage" is a standard but substantial Western co-starring Will Rogers Jr. and Maureen O'Sullivan.

The Ten Commandments (starts July 2), or the story of Moses and the deliverance of a people from the bondage of dictatorial slavery, was one of the outstanding pictures in the history of the screen when Cecil B. DeMille first produced it in the "silent" 1920s. Now, the same great producer-director has made a modern version of the same Biblical developments, adding all of the cinema advancements at his command in the 1950s and using the film perhaps as a fitting pinnacle of his significant career. In VistaVision and Technicolor, "Commandments" represents one of the most arresting and lavish Hollywood productions of all time—strictly in the spectacular DeMille manner, but a tribute to the industry.

Jefferson, currently with the Township Board of Education filling another maternity vacancy. The retirements of Walter R. Fleet of the high school's English department and Miss Edith B. Margrum, head of the fine arts department, were accepted as well as the resignations of Mrs. Alice Ryan, French teacher at the Witherspoon School and Mrs. Ardell Haronian, secretary to the principal of the Nassau School.
The contract for exterior painting at the Nassau School was awarded to Philip H. Zack & Son of Perth Amboy since the firm's bid of $3562 was the lowest received at the May meeting, with the school's interior to be painted by John W. Hurley of Princeton whose low bid of $891 was accepted last month. The Lorenzo Decorating Company of Trenton gained the Witherspoon Street exterior painting contract as per its bid of $3100 given in May.
In taking up the petition presented at the May meeting by Guyot Avenue residents protesting the dangers and damages from foul balls during baseball games at the high school, it was noted that the backstop behind home plate could not be extended further without incurring major expenditures and interfering with the games more than is already the case. The field cannot be moved, since track facilities already infringe on the outfield, it was pointed out, and again the expense would be prohibitive.
A letter was received from the Methodist Church requesting use of the Nassau Street School parking space on Sundays so that the church may erect a new building on its present parking lot and still comply with zoning requirements that off-street parking be provided for at least 20 cars. The Board raised no objection to this request, merely noting that it was a temporary arrangement and did not assign priorities.
SPECIAL HEARING SET
Sidewalk Decision Awaited. Some 50 to 60 residents attended a meeting of the Township Committee Tuesday night to discuss the procedure for financing sidewalk on both sides of Valley Road leading to the school on that street. The lengthy session adjourned after midnight, with next Wednesday at 8:30 set as the time for decision in the matter.
Agreement was general that the sidewalks are needed for protection of schoolchildren, but a number of property owners objected to the municipality's plan to assess the individual and no contribution by the Township. While this is mandatory under current procedure, it was pointed out that a bill permitting the municipality to move part of the cost of sidewalk construction is—Continued on Page 10 currently awaiting Governor Meyner's signature. It is hoped he will sign the bill before Wednesday, thus guiding township action on the question.

Also pending further action is the matter of sewer construction on Sennetts Lane, where cesspools must be eliminated quickly. The low bid of $17,896 by Cantoro and Co. of Hopewell awaits acceptance until the ordinance covering the project becomes law.

LICENSES REVOKED

Three Love Privileges, Magistrate Louis R. Gerber revoked the license of three drivers Tuesday night in Township court action.

George Gallap, Jr., 28, The Great Road, had his right to drive suspended indefinitely, following a hearing in which he was charged with having skidded for more than 100 feet before striking a tree on Mountain Avenue. Magistrate Gerber reported that it was the defendant's seventh motor vehicle violation since 1954.

Thomas Jones, 17, of the Lawrenceville-Bennington Road, Lawrenceville, was charged with failure to keep to the right on Alexander Street. Police said that he was engaging in conversation with the driver of another car while they were moving down the street. His license was revoked for 30 days.

Mrs. Carl Levinson, 28, Princeton Pike, who was involved in a minor accident at Quaker and Mercer Roads, was charged with leaving the scene. Her license was suspended for ten days. A $15 fine was imposed on Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, 8 Maple Place, for careless driving.

chosen, must be submitted to the State Department of Education for approval, but there has been delay in submitting them because the comparative cost studies have been more extensive than the Board originally thought they would be. Also, it has taken time for the architect to prepare the alternative plans that were requested after the public hearing prior to the election.

QUARRY SCHOOL AWARDS
Eighth-Grade Students. Graduated Awards for achievement and citizenship were presented to ten boys and girls who were graduated last week from the eighth grade of Quarry Street School. Howard B. Waxwood, Jr., principal of the school, presented American Legion medals to Gretchen Whitehead, Chalmers Brumbaugh, John Eisenhart, an award made on the basis of high standards of citizenship and scholarship.

Student Council awards for achievement and citizenship were presented to Ann Austin, Chalmers Brumbaugh, John Eisenhart, Diane Fugill, Gary Grover, Myrna Hinds, Gordon Lutz, Dennis Smole, Gordon Waldron and Gretchen Whitehead.

Dr. Michael S. Kline, assistant principal, gave the address to the graduates and B. Woodhull Davis, superintendent of schools, presented the diplomas.

CHEMISTRY INSTITUTE
Will Open Monday. Princeton residents are invited to participate in six Wednesday evening seminars scheduled as part of the Summer Institute in Chemistry which begins at Princeton University Monday. The institute is under the joint sponsorship of the New Jersey Department of Education and the University.
The sessions will continue through August 8, drawing 42 teachers of chemistry from New Jersey high schools in an effort to deal with the problems presented by the forward movement of scientific knowledge. The institute marks the first occasion on which the State Department of Education and a privately-endowed university have combined forces in such an endeavor.

The first Wednesday seminar, which will bring the teachers into direct contact with research scientists at the University is scheduled for Wednesday evening at 8 in the conference room of Woodrow Wilson Hall. Dr. Clark E. Bricker, institute director and associate professor of chemistry at the University, has announced that the speaker will be Dr. Donald F. Hornig, chairman-designate of the chemistry department. His topic will be "High-Temperature Chemistry."

Dr. Lyman Spitzer, chairman of the astronomy department and director of "Project Matterhorn" will give the second seminar July 8. Other seminar leaders this summer will include Dean Hugh S. Taylor, retiring dean of the graduate school, and Prof. George Reynolds of the physics department.

MAN, WOMAN JAILED
After Baby Found Dead. Elsie Smith, 25, of 207 Birch Avenue, and James Dowdell, 25, of Burlington, will be brought before the Mercer County Grand Jury in the near future to face charges prompted by the unexpected death of a newborn child. Having been overhauled here Saturday before Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber, they are now incarcerated in County Jail, the woman under $200 bail, Dowdell under $400 bail.

According to reports by Sgt. Anthony Nini and Patrolman Anthony Diafori, who investigated the matter for the Princeton Township police department, Miss Smith gave birth in her home to the infant, who lived only a few hours. The baby's body was found in a box on the playground behind Ewing High School and traced to Miss Smith.
Magistrate Gerber cited Dowdell, acknowledged father of the child, as an accessory in the criminal act.

BIRTH LIST

Parents of sons include: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Shurtz, Neshaan Project, Somerset; Mr. and Mrs. George Sichel, Alexander Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jensen, R.D. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Nario Conte, 341 Witherspoon Street; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Place, 133 Winant Road; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hengel, Bunker Hill Road; Mr. and Mrs. David Kietzman, Opussum Road, Skillman; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Stephens, 369 Union Street, Trenton.

Dillard, R.D. 1, Plainsboro.

UNION PICNIC PLANNED
To Take Place Saturday. The annual picnic of the Building Service Employees International Union, Local 172, will be held Saturday at Squatters Grove.

No Water Wanted
All volunteers of Princeton's three fire companies will assemble at the intersection of Nassau and Chambers Streets at 7 Friday evening, but, unlike firemen on most other occasions, they won't be looking for or wanting a drop of water. For the firefighters' annual parade is a festive event—is on tap, and it hasn't rained for this outdoor get-together for more than a decade.
Led by Fire Chief Joseph J. Stemmle, members of Princeton Engine Company No. 1, Mercer Engine Company No. 3 and Look & Ladder Engine Company No. 4, will participate. They will march from their mustering point to Olden Avenue and or Street (old-timers will recognize the "avenue" version, map readers the "street" designation). On October 4, at 7:30, Mayor Male and Borough Councilmen will conduct their yearly inspection of the volunteers.
Per tradition, the three companies will be accompanied by all pieces of equipment and a pair of Trenton bands—the snappy Shriners' string organization and the Princeton Square Band. Also per tradition, members of the companies will march to their respective firehouses following the demonstration for the customary revelry.

Transportation from Palmer Square will be provided at 11, 12 and 1. The picnic begins at 11.
Eric Nende is chairman of the committee. Officers of the local include Charles C. Wooding, president, and Philip H. Diggon, secretary.

IT'S ALL IN A DAY'S WORK: Asked Town Topics' Question of the Week about wives who work (see below), Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, popular Princeton newlyweds, agreed that employment by the distaff halves of married couples is a good thing. The Browns were queried at their job—at the Nassau Tavern and Nassau Club. Some other interviewees shared their opinion, some were less convinced.

Question of the Week

Question: How do you feel about wives working?
Location: Around town.

John Brown, 28 Lytle Street, mitre d'hotel at the Nassau Tave-nn: I'm sure is a lot of help! My wife and I have been married almost three months and I know she wouldn't be satisfied if she wasn't working. I think women nowadays don't know what to do with themselves if they haven't jobs.

Mrs. John Brown, 28 Lytle Street, stewardess at the Nassau Club: To me, it's a must. I don't mind working because, for one thing, I like my job. I'm working while I'm fairly young so I can retire when I get older.
I like the necessities of life—and a few luxuries—so it's a must.

Mrs. Natalie Laxy, Rocky Hill, secretary: Without children, I approve absolutely because there isn't that much for a wife to do at home. A job gives her something to occupy her. With children, I feel a mother should be at home taking care of them. Depending on the children and what the school situation is, I think she should stay at home until they are of high school age.

John A. Archer, 25 Wil-lams Street, vice president and general manager of University Cleaners & Laundry: If the children are grown, I heartily approve of it. However, I don't think wives should work while youngsters are still growing up—to the detriment of the youngsters. My wife certainly is a very important member of our business team.

William B. Schrader, 265 Western Way, psychologist: I am in favor of it to the extent that the job is worthwhile and meaningful to the wife herself. My wife is studying now to go into social work and I think the only change in our life is that more planning is required.

Mrs. R. B. Kimble, 3 Hamilton Avenue, nurse: I guess I'm old-fashioned enough to believe a woman's place is in the home unless it is absolutely necessary for her to contribute to the family income. In the case of women with no children, I think it's perfectly all right for them to spend their days pursuing vocations.

But, if they are mothers, their place is in the home with the children as long as they need her. I think far too many mothers leave their children at loose ends.

Mrs. Audrey Ritchie, 544 Mercer Road, secretary: I have no choice about working since my husband is a grad student! I think it's a shame wives do have to work since their interests should be in the home. If there are children involved, their interests should vary definitely be there.
Actually, I don't know what I'd do now since we have no children. I hope I'll be able to quit soon, though.

Bank Chachowski, Manville, free-lance photographer: From the beginning of a marriage—and I'm right at the beginning of mine—a working wife is a tremendous asset. Particularly if you happen to be a person who isn't making big money. In the event of children, I don't think a job for the wife should interfere with the raising of a family. Believe me, lots of us wouldn't make it without our wives working. Also, most of them enjoy keeping busy.

THAT OTHERS MAY LIVE: The shattered sedan that carried four teenage Princeton students to their deaths on June 14 will be displayed throughout New Jersey in the near future, according to State Police authorities. Sgt. John A. Smith, station commander of the Princeton Barracks, said the State Police expect to obtain possession of the car's remains as soon as several legal questions have been resolved, and the exhibition will be sponsored by the State's Division of Law and Public Safety or some interested civic group. The family of Robert De Sandro, driver of the ill-fated auto, has been "very co-operative" in helping the State Police get, for graphic educational purposes, "the worst demolition of a car" ever seen by experienced investigating officers. Drulis, business education; Frank Clark, Latin; Joseph L. Pierson, social studies; Morrill F. Shepard, Miss Florence N. Burke, mathematics; Frank M. Soda, foreign languages. Mrs. Frances A. Foxbeck and Mrs. Terry Voldwieder will conduct the remedial classes at the elementary school level.

Students may register from 9 to 4 June 23 to 27. Registration will take place at the High School.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT HUN. To Run Six Weeks. The Hun School will offer instruction in all secondary school subjects from July 7 to August 16 with instruction to be given individually or in very small groups. The program of each student will be arranged to fit his requirements, whether for review or remedial work or for work in a new subject. The daily program will consist of instruction for one hour during the morning in each subject being studied, with periods of extra instruction or supervised study scheduled for the afternoon and evening.

Credit for summer study will be given in accordance with the material covered for Hun students. Those from other schools are advised to find out from their own school authorities what work is required for credit in any course.

A new course will be added this year in developmental reading which will be conducted by a counselor from the Reading Laboratory Inc. It is designed to develop advanced reading skills and study habits for students heading toward college.

In addition to the academic courses, sports will be available, including swimming, tennis, golf and softball. Since enrollment is limited, those interested should make an appointment for a conference as soon as possible by writing the school at Box 371 or calling WA 1-7600.

HEARINGS COMPLETED. Capital Punishment Attacked. Three Princeton residents testified last Thursday at the final session of the State Assembly's public hearings on bills to abolish capital punishment. Hugo A. Bedau of 221-A Halsey Street, speaking for the Citizens' Committee in Princeton for the Abolition of Capital Punishment, argued against the deterrent factor of the death penalty by pointing out that the New Jersey homicide rate has dropped for the past 20 years and that the number of electrocutions during the same period has also fallen.

According to Mr. Bedau's testimony, the chance of apprehending a murderer is 1 in 17 whereas his chance of being executed is only 1 in 44. From this he deduced that it is impossible for the death penalty, as currently enforced, to be a real deterrent to homicidal crime.

Raymond Richards of 25 Jefferson Road testified that the death penalty probably encourages criminals to commit murder because it leads the criminal to place no more value on human life than the State places on his. Prof. Paul Schleyer of 217-D Halsey Street, whose testimony concluded the hearing, argued against the claim made earlier by Sanford Bates of Pennington, former head of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies, that first-degree murder is a crime committed by the criminal class. He emphasized that 71% of the 157 men electrocuted in New Jersey since 1907 had no previous criminal record.

At the first public meeting of the Citizens' Committee, about 40 persons came to hear Dr. Lowell Hixby of Hamilton Crossing, head of the State Division of Correction and Parole, and the Rev. Straughen Gettler, pastor of the Princeton Unitarian Church, speak in favor of abolishing the death penalty. Mr. Bedau is chairman of the Committee.

DAY CAMP READY. Tamarack Set to Open. Mrs. L. H. Myers, camp chairman of the Princeton Girl Scout Council, has announced that the staff for Camp Tamarack is complete and that the scout day camp is ready to function. Not limited to scouts, the day camp will be open to all Princeton girls from 7 to 12 years of age.

Camp Tamarack will open July 7 with the following staff: Mrs. Robert Gagne, director; Mrs. Edwin Evensen, business manager; Mrs. Ward Davidson, nurse; Mrs. D. J. Livingstone, craft counselor; and Miss Sally Sikes, Miss Morrell Churchill, Mrs. Simeon Moss Jr., Mrs. D. L. Corlette, and Mrs. Eleath Licklider, all unit leaders.

In addition to the adult staff members, a number of Senior Scouts will serve as program aides.

CAR STOLEN—BRIEFLY
Police Trap Culprits. At 2:15 p.m. Sunday, Joseph Christians of Skillman parked his 1955 Plymouth outside Princeton Post Office, leaving the key in the ignition, and several minutes later his car was missing. At 4:35 the same afternoon, Borough police spotted the stolen auto on Clay Street, and several minutes later three juveniles were incarcerated.

Reviewing the quick developments, Lt. Raymond Mondote said the three joyriding teenagers, led by a recent alumnus of Jamesburg Reformatory, took the vehicle from its post office parking spot, with the leader assisting it belonged to his uncle, Patrolman Russell Shangle and Ralph Proaccino, touring the Clay Street area some two and a half hours later, saw the missing auto, apprehended two of the

An appearance before Referee Howard W. Stepp for the trial, now released under bail, is expected soon, the lieutenant said.

BOROUGH COURT

Two Are Fined, Salvatore F. Ferrante, 21, of Skillman, received a $15 fine and a 30-day license suspension in Borough Court Monday for driving without a registration. It was the third violation in the three months he has been driving.

Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. imposed a total of $29 in fines on J.T. Valdes, 35, 566 Kingston Road. He pleaded guilty to charges of speeding and failing to pay a parking ticket.

COMMITTEE WILL MEET

Lawrence School Group Active. Lawrence Township's Citizens Advisory Committee on the school situation has been called back into service and its members will meet Monday with the Board of Education in an attempt to reach agreement soon on the school expansion program.

The Board will bring the Citizens' Committee up to date on the information now available on Township population construction costs, etc. The Citizens' group hopes to make its proposals early this fall on the basis of its conferences with Board members. The decisions to be made involve a proposed addition to the junior high school, the possible building of another elementary school and the acquisition of future school sites.

Lawrence Township's taxpayers have been plagued in recent months by apparent lack of agreement among Board members on the subject of new schools. According to one Lawrence citizen, this lack of harmony is due to varying interpretations of figures on Township population.

The Citizens Advisory Committee made one population survey in early 1957. The Board of Education did not wholly agree with the survey and presented to the Lawrence Township Committee a modification of the Citizens' plans. These plans were rejected last fall because the Township Committee did not give the Board permission to exceed the legal limit in its proposed bond issue.

According to a recent statement from Harry H. Pratt, Lawrence Superintendent, taxpayers may benefit from the postponement of the building program because assessed valuations in the Township have risen from $15,243,391 to $17,596,076; construction costs have dropped since August by $1 to $1.50 per square foot; the cost of borrowing has decreased and the weekly index of municipal bonds now is 251½ as opposed to 326½ when the original plans were made.

LAWRENCEVILLE LIBRARY
Sets Summer Hours. The Lawrenceville Community Library has announced its summer schedule which will run through August 27. The library will be open Mondays and Wednesdays from 11:30 to a story hour or a film on a book planned for Wednesday.

The library is located in the old cafeteria of the Lawrenceville Elementary School and is open to all Lawrence Township residents.

SALE NEARS COMPLETION
Lawyers, Buying Building. For a price in the neighborhood of $100,000, the Princeton law firm of Mason, Griffin & Moore reportedly signed a contract this past week for purchase of the Bell telephone building at the southwest corner of Nassau and Charlton Streets. The centrally located structure, with some 5,000-plus square feet of "rentable" space, had been on the block since Bell moved its Princeton headquarters to the new dial building last fall.

According to reliable sources, the attorneys and the telephone company reached their final agreement after several months of negotiations and now the sale need be okayed only by the Public Utilities Commission in Newark for lease renovation and occupancy can take place. The law firm declined comment on the well-documented report, but, rather, referred all queries to the PUC, which is expected to render its decision in the matter before the end of July.

If the transaction goes through without a flaw—and no flaws are anticipated—Messrs. Ralph S. Mason, Gordon D. Griffin and Harvey S. Moore Jr. reportedly will move their offices from 215 Nassau into some 1,000 square feet of the Bell building's ground floor about October 1. Presumably, the remainder of the ground floor and the entire second floor and much of the basement will be rented to prospective tenants desiring space on Nassau.

Not long ago, trustees of the Princeton Public Library and members of the Princeton Board of Studies in Princeton Business Association suggested that the Bell facilities be obtained for a new library, but this idea was turned down—after considerable study—for a number of reasons, topped by the fact that the building is better suited for offices than a library.

With Mason, Griffin & Moore on the verge of taking title to the sturdy brick structure and every office building demanding a name these days, one wag this week suggested, "M-G-M Studios of Princeton."

"BRYNWOOD" GOING UP

Subdivision Will Have 30 Houses. The community's newest subdivision, "Brynwood in Princeton," will be built on Poe Road and Shadybrook Lane and construction on two model homes has already begun. The builders are Ted Dean of Princeton and Edward Sands, Metuchen. Split level and ranch models will both be ready for inspection about July 25.

The split level will have 2300 square feet divided among nine rooms. There will be five bedrooms, a paneled family room with fireplace, two and one-half baths with double sink vanities, powder room, lavatory, U-shaped kitchen, center hall entry and dining room with doors to a rear patio.

The California ranch, 78 feet long, has been designed with 27-foot livingroom, a full diningroom and two baths. One step down from the kitchen and diningroom is a recreation room with pegged random-width oak floors, four-to-elevator windows, brick fireplace and sliding glass doors to an outdoor terrace with brick barbecue. The room is separated from the rooms above it by a SIGN OF THINGS TO COME: Thinking ahead to the time next month when "fast-action, coin-operated automatic gates" will greet Princeton commuters at renovated Princeton Junction parking lots, Town Topics this week photographed a comparable set-up at the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Trenton supervised by the same parking management (Maiden Lane) that will be in charge here. A total of 550 spaces will be available when the PRR completes its current installation. Princetonians will be charged 25 cents for 12-hour parking, or something very much akin to the Trenton price of 50 cents for all-day parking. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Renwick's Refurbishing

"A Princeton Landmark" will still be a landmark come August 1, but it will be wearing a brand-new coat of arms and paint. For Renwick's, the half-century-old restaurant and coffee shop at 50 Nassau Street, drew canvas over its picture windows this past week and began extensive refurbishing operations inside. It was the start of the first complete overhaul job in more than a decade.

According to Harold Ostroff, the eatery's affable general manager, no stool or table will be left untarnished in an all-out effort to give Renwick's a new, fresh look. He declined further comment, except to say that the restaurant and coffee shop portions of the establishment will be distinctly separate as opposed to the old set-up, when one ran right into the other. Full details of the front-to-back renovation will be announced in several weeks, he added.

Both models will include built-in ovens and ranges, dishwashers and disposals and ceramic tile baths. They will both have brick fronts, 2-car garages and a minimum plot of three-quarters of an acre.

BORG WILL MOVE

Tailor Takes New Quarters. Joseph Borg, the tailor who came to Princeton from Malta in 1950, will move on July 1 from the Palmer Square shop he has occupied for the past eight years. He will continue his custom-tailoring business at 173 Nassau, and the Nassau Tavern will take over his old quarters at 4 Palmer Square East for a laundry.

Mr. Borg, who operates the tailoring shop by himself, came to this country in study fashion. He began his work in Princeton with John Whorf and established his own custom-tailoring shop soon after. In addition to the work he does for men, he also tailors ladies' coats and suits

ETS NAMES DIRECTOR

Weber Succeeds Warren. Educational Testing Service, through the office of its president, Henry Chauncey, announced this week that William E. Weber has joined the Princeton organization as director of the Accounts and Budgets Division. In his new position, Mr. Weber succeeds James B. A resident of Whippany, New Jersey, Mr. Weber was associated with Houdaille Industries in Chicago for many years and, in 1956, became controller and assistant secretary of Houdaille Construction Materials, Inc. in Morris-town. He is a member of the American Management Association and the National Association of Accountants.

THE TREND IS DOWN

Won-Lost Averages Dip. Two years ago, Princeton athletic teams compiled a won-lost average from September through June of .640. Last year, the figure peeled off to .570; for the year just ended, it dropped further, hitting .544. This is based on 238 victories, 199 defeats and seven ties.

Further indication of the "recession" that has affected Tiger athletic fortunes comes when the present figure are contrasted to the all-time high. From September, 1949, until June, 1950, Princeton teams were victorious at a .704 clip. In other words, they were winning better than seven out of every ten contests in which they partook—rather than barely keeping above the break-even point as they did this year.

Actually, only a third of Princeton's teams at the varsity level managed to top the .500 mark. It was accomplished in football (.7-2) and soccer (.8-1-1) last fall; in basketball (.15-2) and squash (.9-3) and in the winter; in tennis (.9-4) and in golf (.26-8) this spring. The golf total includes the composite standing against teams in two sets of intercollegiate, Eastern and Metropolitan, in which the Tigers took part.

There were three Ivy champions, Orange and Black teams finishing first in football, soccer and lacrosse. The latter was the sole repeating titleholder, while Princeton teams yielded championships in squash, tennis and 150-lb. crew.

Varsity and freshman teams compiled their best records in the fall, when the former recorded a .558 mark and the first-year entries reached a .611 percentage. In the winter, the freshmen maintained their pace, winning at a .602 clip, but varsity outfits plummeted below .500, winning .45, losing .46 and tying two for .455.

The freshmen then failed to break even in the spring, losing the odd game in 65 contests for a mark of .492. Varsity teams improved their record when the outdoor season returned, winning at a .569 clip.

The few javay entries Princeton maintains in these days of inflated athletic budgets broke exactly even, winning 19 and losing as many. The Tigers schedule junior varsity events only in football, wrestling and crew.

TIGERS TRAIL AT SYRACUSE

No Better Than Fifth. It was fifth place for the Princeton varsity in a field of ten crews; fifth out of nine for the javayees; and seventh out of nine for the freshmen in the national regatta Saturday at Syracuse.

Cornell achieved the unexpected by winning all three races, the varsity event for the fourth year in a row. The Red had been figured to give favored Penn, which had beaten it twice this season, a close battle. Actually, Navy was second, Syracuse third and California fourth, with Penn sixth behind the Tigers.

Princeton was in the thick of the varsity race until the three-mile mark, trailing only Cornell at this point. Then the Orange and Black faded, finishing some three and a half lengths off the pace.

Cornell's time for the three-mile event was 17:12.1, a figure that was markedly slow for the Lake Okauchage course. A head wind of six to eight miles an hour was directly responsible.

MIDGETS MILED DOWN

Series Ends in Stalemate. An unprecedented series of rainy evenings resulted this week in a decision by the board of commissioners of the YMCA Midget League to call the long-awaited "World Series" a deadlock for 1958. Each of the evenly-matched participating teams—the National Pirates and the American Red Sox—managed to win a game between cloudbursts, but the "rubber" contest in the best-of-three match definitely got stuck in the rain.

Last Saturday, with the score tied 2-2 in the third inning of the tied and off-scheduled meeting, a heavy downpour ended all hope of continuing the battle over the week end. Since many parents of Midget performers, particularly in the Red Sox camp, had disrupted their vacation plans already due to the stretched-out Series, it was decided not to delay the situation any longer. Thus, the '58 Series went into the books as an official stalemate.

To prevent the Princeton Club-sponsored Sox from registering a major turnaround, the Plainsboro Lions Club-sponsored Burs put on a great comeback in the second round of the Series last Wednesday evening. They tied the Series at one game apiece by wallpopping the upstart American division champs, 12-4. It was a splendid team victory for the Pirates, with all hands contributing heavily to the triumph.

On Saturday, in the exciting down-to-the-storm third encounter, Dave Johnson pounded out three hits, including two doubles, to tally the Sox' two runs while Alex Katona brought the Plainsboro entry even by knocking in his nine's pair of runs. Johnny Freeman, with five strike-outs in three frames, was going strong for the Red Sox when the rains came stronger. Bob Wallington, with able assists from Jack Britton (see "We Congratulate" box) and Katona, worked for the National champs.

MANAGERS PICKED

Set for Junior League Play. Jack Petrone, Princeton Township patrolman long active in both hard and softball play, will manage the newest entry in the Junior Baseball League this summer. JACK BRITTON
Midget League Star

During the course of the 1958 Midget League season — the Princeton Y.M.C.A.-supervised baseball campaign that concluded action this past week — the Pirates of Plainsboro won 10 of 31 games to perpetuate a winning tradition. Followers of the fiery team, sponsored by the Plainsboro Lions Club, hailed Bob Wallington, son of the Buick manager, as the most consistent hitter on the triumphant nine and Alex Klatons as the most dependable pitcher.

Yet, on sober reflection, all were agreed that Jack Britton was the "key" that opened the door to the National division champs' remarkable victory record. He clouted the bang ball, he hurled in clutch situations and, when not on the mound, he provided pep from his third base position. "Of all the kids in the league," Bob Brodberg, "my" coordinator for the loop, observed, "Jack certainly deserves 'outstanding player' credit."

Just 13 this month, the large-for-his-age, 140-pounder opened a lot of eyes earlier in the spring (his third as a Midget performer) by socking 13 home runs in "my" Pirates' first seven conquests. In fact, opposing pitchers saw so much that they began looking him whenever possible. The young switch-hitter started swinging at anything within reach and consequently lost his homeric touch, but, nonetheless, wound up with a fatter-than-300 average.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clifford Brown, Princeton Road, Plainsboro, Jack — starting twirler for the National All-

Stars and currently a mainstay of Plainsboro's Babe Ruth League entry—symbolized the spirit of youth in competition all spring. He was a bit of a hothead in trying situations, and there were many trying situations — ones that might have taxed the patience of older players. But, above all, he was devoted to the Pirate cause.

According to "my" officials, Jack Britton really showed his mettle last Saturday, date of the Midgets' final "World Series" encounter. His grandfather, whom he loved dearly, died suddenly Saturday morning. Jack was heartbroken; yet, he played his heart out — and played well—Saturday afternoon.

including watermelon eating, pie eating, doll and costume.

The annual picnic and field day, at which time awards are made in various contest winners, will be conducted August 7 at Lawrence Junior High. Tournaments will be staged the final two weeks of the playground season, with the following tentative dates set for activity championships (time and place to be noted later): fishing, August 9; Little Minor League Baseball, August 11 and 12; quito, August 13; golf, August 18, and tennis, August 19, 20 and 21.

John T. Cunningham is the commissioner of recreation for Lawrence Township, while the playground instructors for 1958 will be Ronald Udy, Marge Edwards, Edie Hendricks, Harold Vereen, Justine Ratcliffe, John Corboy, Marian Smith, Robert Strahs, William Wert and Corrine Cervone.

force of the two police departments in town.

Jack Houghton is another newcomer to managerial activity in the circuit. The fortunes of the nine backed by L. C. Bowers and Sans will be in his hands.

Paul Cuomo will manage Nassau Oil Co., the defending champion. An alumnus of Princeton High and Peddie—as are both Jack Petrone and Jack Houghton—Cuomo learned his baseball at the two New Jersey schools.

Bob Sinkler, oldest of the quartet of managers from point of view of service, will again lead the Matthews Construction Co. nine. Sinkler is an athletic trainer for Princeton University and a summer playground supervisor.

Members of the league will participate in the All-Star double-header at Brokav Field on July 4, with Midget Leaguers participating in the first half of the annual affair. The regular schedule will begin Monday, July 7.

PLAYGROUNDS OPENING

Lawrence Brasts Five. Starting next Tuesday morning, five widespread playgrounds in Lawrence Township—at Egberts Crossing, Lawrence Junior High, Eldridge Park School, Slackwood School and Lawrenceville Public School—will be open for use by all Township youngsters. Each playground will have hours of 9 to 3:30 Monday through Friday, and each will be staffed by a man and woman instructor.

Announcing the schedule and program, Joseph M. Jingo, veteran Princeton High football coach by fall and playgrounds director by summer, said individual and team games such as croquet, badminton, volleyball, dodge ball, rubber quito, basketball, ping pong and softball have been slated. Also, there will be arts, crafts, storytelling, dramatics, dancing and special contests.

Report from THE MAYOR

In Flight. This report is being written high over England en route by air from Brussels to Idlewild. The Mayor has spent three eventful days at the Brussels Exposition and had a chance to learn again that the town of Princeton is well-known around the world for its history, its institutions and its people.

Traveling in a group of 80 Americans, I found none who had not had some contact with Princeton. The first student guide I met in the American Pavilion was Bill Gilland, Princeton '55, who will be back this fall as a graduate student in architecture.

Einstein. The central structure of the Exposition is the Atomium, an engineering feat representing a magnified crystal. At the ground level, a huge phonograph of Albert Einstein was a great attention-getter.

In the News. Visitors were shown one Sunday issue of the New York Times, each separate page mounted along the walls of the American exhibit. The date was November 24, 1957, and the sports section headlined the Princeton football triumph over Dartmouth.

A news story featured the organization of Recordings for the Blind in Princeton. A ad note was the picture and obituary announcing the death of Princeton's George Wintringer.

Urban Renewal. This weekly report has often carried an item on Urban Renewal. The Brussels trip provided some first-hand information on how others do it.

The Mayor talked with a Russian guide about the exhibit of Stalingrad's rebuilding. Pictures traced various stages from the Nazi assault, through the years of careful rebuilding. The French had another major demonstration of block by block redevelopment in areas of 2,000 year-old Paris.

On a quick trip into Paris, this was observed first-hand. It made Princeton's project seem a little easier to accomplish.

Facing Facts. Among the items which impressed foreign visitors to the United States exhibit was the refreshing fact that, unlike the Soviet's massive display, we did not slobber or boast, or set forth the statistics of national power or leadership. Instead, we actually show vivid documentation of three great unsolved problems: race relations, conservation and urban renewal.

In French, I talked with more than a score of Europeans at this part of the exhibit. They were all amazed at the American frankness, especially about housing for Negroes and about segregation and discrimination in many aspects of American life.

Princeton's Opportunity. The Mayor returns with strengthened convictions about our great opportunity to promote better understanding among people. With so many visitors and temporary residents among us, we have a constant chance to demonstrate the real heart of America. And our residents traveling widely throughout the world are our real ambassadors.

The Best Exhibit. At Brussels, America's exhibit was an architectural triumph. The exhibits in the American Pavilion have become controversial, and some of the criticism seems justified. Yet our best "exhibit" is the more than 200 young men and women from the United States who have escorted more than 12 million visitors and given them a bright example of America at its best.

Open House. The weekly "Tell R to the Mayor" session will be held on Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointments are necessary. It will be good to get back to the important business of town affairs!

News Of The CHURCHES

MORTGAGE BURNED

Kingston has a Roaring Blaze. It was burn-offering night at Kingston Presbyterian church last Friday and 150 jubilant parishioners watched the church's $3,000 mortgage go up in smoke. In fact, the fire had more fuel than it needed: the final cash-in-hand sum raised on Friday was $3311.75.

This money pays off the sum borrowed by the church to build the addition for religious education and social purposes. The initial fund-raising began exactly three years ago, in June, 1965, and the building was dedicated in February, 1966.

GILL JOINS CARAVAN

Lutheran Group Will Tour Country. Martina Bruhn, former president of the Methodist Lutheran League youth group, has joined a Waltham League "Caravan" team which will spend the summer touring the country visiting some 18 Leagues on ways in which they can improve their youth activities.

The Caravan consists of about 20 young people divided into teams of three. Following five days of briefing in Valparaiso, Indiana, the teams will begin their eight-week tour, spending three or four days with each congregation. Teams will visit only those Leagues that have asked for help.

CANDIDATES PRESENTED

Presbytery Takes Them "Under-Care." At last Tuesday's meeting of the Presbytery of the Hudson, two Princeton men were presented as candidates for the ministry and "taken under-care" of the Presbytery. They are Robert Helm of Witherspoon Church and George Toole of the Second Presbyterian Church. Both young men will begin their studies for the ministry this fall.

Also at the Presbytery meeting, Dr. John R. Bodo of the First church presented his report of the recent Bible Study Assembly. At this Assembly the United Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. united to form the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Dr. Bodo was one of three ministerial commissioners who represented the Presbytery in the proceedings.

NSC GAINS GROUND

Cenerino Harler Shines. Despite the second of two straight no-pitching jobs by reinstated Mack Brockington of Cenerino's A-C, perennially stubborn Nassau Sox continued to gain ground this past week in the Princeton Community Softball League. NSC jumped from fourth to second place in the loop standings on a pair of well-earned victories, including one over front-running Cenerino's. Brockington, who celebrated his return to action 10 days ago (after a post of participating managers) by hauling his team to a no-hit 8-0 win over the Princeton Orioles, made John Vandermere this Tuesday by not hitting Drake's Plumbing & Heating, 10-6. Thus, it became apparent that Cenerino's can go well with Brockington, but can't be certain of success when he is tossing in another league Thursday evening.

NSC took advantage of Cenerino's Thursday dilemma by defeating the new PCSL entry and a substitute moundsman last Thursday, 4-1. Veteran Huck McCreey limited the No. 1 club to three hits in nothing NSC's seventh verdict, then threw a steady seven-hit game to nip ASCOP this Tuesday, 4-2. Inclement weather and National Guard duty limited other action in the loop this past week.

PSCL standings as of June 25, with a dozen postponed contests still to be made up.

PAC STAYS UNBEATEN

Two-Hit For Phox. An apparently versatile Princeton Athletic Club baseball team, bent on maintaining the club's victory tradition in the Tri-County League, claimed an unblemished record going into the third week of 1968 competition—and added another triumph Tuesday evening. Playing in Hopewell, the Princetonians edged the home team, 1-0, in a brilliant pitchers' battle.

PAC (now 3-0) received two-hit work from Harold (Porty) Phox, former Princeton High workhorse who struck out eight and walked four. Meanwhile, Hopewell's Sam Hildebrand was whiffing 11 and also walking four, but he gave up seven safeties and two of them cost him a tough defeat.

In the second inning, Princeton's Bobby Montgomery and Lee Ammerman—both two for three in the game—combined talents to shape PAC's third straight win. Montgomery singled, stole second, and went in third on a wild pitch and came home on Ammerman's single.

Last Friday, wet grounds caused postponement of Princeton's scheduled game with Montgomery Township and Hopewell scored a 8-0 forfeit triumph over winless Synopline. This Friday, the local entry will play second-place South Brunswick at 6:15 at Brookview Field.

TENNIS FINALS SET

Scheduled for Friday. The final round of the Community Tennis Tournament for boys 13 and under will be held Sunday at 5 on the University's Church Courts. David Smoyer, who defeated Win Marsden, 8-3, 6-4, to reach the championship bracket, will face Bob Kuser Wednesday in the final. Tucker defeated Dick Crawford, 6-2, 6-0, in the semifinals, while Kuser was eliminating Chris Marsden, 6-0, 6-3.

The girls' final was also set for Wednesday afternoon, with Nancy Smoyer facing Mary Bonham. In the semifinals, Miss Smoyer won over Babe Hutton, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5, while Miss Bonham defeated the defending champion, Jane Bachelder, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4. The men's singles will begin Tuesday, with the women's singles set for July 9. Entries should be made now at the YMCA (WA 4-3633).
